

A visualisation with notes of subluxation's role in practice

Andrew Vincent

Abstract: Many chiropractors are visual creatives and include drawing and lists as communication aids with patients. In recognition of the role of visual learning this paper presents a visual chart showing the relationship and key elements of the interaction between the patient and the chiropractor.

An emphasis is placed on Quality of Life including 'reduced well-being' and 'loss of joyful activities' /

Indexing Terms: chiropractic; subluxation; patient-focussed care; communication; patient management; protocols

... chiropractors often draw visualisations to better inform patients regarding their plan of care. The Vincent model presents ideas which can be taken and adapted across many practice styles'

